Being Collected Through April

Our spring Missions Offering goes to Baptist missionaries serving in the US and Canada. The goal is $25,000. You can find a special “pink” offering envelope in your Offering Envelope packet at home, or find these envelopes in the pew racks in the Sanctuary. On the envelope, you can designate your offering to Southern Baptist Missions or Cooperative Baptist Missions. You can also designate that 50% go to each.

Please give generously and let's meet our goal by the end of April!

Thanks – Missions Steering Committee

Local Missions Blitz

Friday & Saturday, April 25-26
(and other days)

TBC's Spring Local Missions Blitz will involve hundreds of volunteers (of all ages) in 23 different opportunities to reach out to our community and individuals/families in need. Several projects are great for families to participate in with their children! There are definitely projects that ANYONE in our church can use their abilities to accomplish – following Jesus' teaching “truly I tell you, IN AS MUCH as you did good for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did it for Me”. (Matt. 25:40)

The Sign-up Brochure was inserted in the last 2 weeks Sunday's bulletin. You can also pick one up at many places around the campus – including the church office, Sunday School classrooms and Fellowship Hall. Simply choose your top 3 preferences for ways to serve, mark them 1,2,3 on the Sign-up page on the brochure, tear the page off and put it in the offering plate on Sunday or in the plastic collection boxes in the Narthex/ Fellowship Hall. Your Project Team Leader will contact you in several weeks with details about what you need to bring/wear to the project.

If you cannot participate on Friday & Saturday, April 25-26, there are 5 projects planned on other weekends or weekdays that you can choose from!

Please Sign Up Early To Participate In The Project You Want!

Words from Andy

Stress is real and it is overwhelming some of our students. Here is a recent blog post by Dr. Kara Powell of Youth Fuller Institute of how to help students who are dealing with stress. (<http://fulleryouthinstitute.org/blog/4-steps-to-help-a-stressed-teenager>).

Know a stressed teenager? Me too. Lots of them.

Evidence is mounting that this generation of young people experiences more stress than any previous generation. Not only that, but teenage stress is starting to reach adult levels.

According to a recent survey of 1000 young people ages 13-17 conducted by the American Psychological Association, more than 27% report feeling "extreme stress" in the last year, a number that exceeds adults' self-reported stress levels.

Here's a more nuanced look at the stress young people report:

- Unsurprising to anyone who's spent time with a teenager recently, the effort required to manage time and balance activities is a "somewhat" or "very significant" stressor to 59% of the young people surveyed.

HS Nashville Summer Mission Trip

July 11-19, 2014 • Cost: $350
($200 deposit due at registration)

This is the final call for registration. The absolute deadline is April 15. Register and pay online at www.lifehonestly.com by clicking on the Nashville Mission Trip picture on the home page.

MS Passport Summer Mission Camp

July 7-12 • Danville, Virginia
Cost: $255 (Deposit $100)

The deadline for registration is April 30. There are only eight spots remaining. Register and pay online at www.lifehonestly.com by clicking on the Passport picture on the home page.

- Stress is affecting young people physically. Over 32% of respondents say they experience headaches because of stress.
- Unfortunately, only about 37% of the teenagers surveyed exercise or walk to manage stress. More common are less healthy activities, such as playing video games (46%) and spending time online (43%).

What can you do to help a stressed teenager?

1. Beware of what your own stress is communicating. Whether you are a leader or a parent (or both), kids pick up on our stress, and it can increase their own.
2. Ask them how they are feeling about their schedule and pace. This is a question I regularly ask my 13 year-old son to understand the demands on his time and focus, and navigate potential overloads.
3. If you're a parent, talk with your family about specific ways your home can be less stressful. Maybe it means getting more prepared for school the night before, or putting on mellow music right before dinner or bedtime, or creating a weekly schedule that's in your kitchen so everyone knows what each day holds.
4. Help them say "no." Kids are even worse at saying "no" than adults because they don't want to miss out. Help them say "no" to activities and invitations that are good but not great.

I'm scared about the stress trajectory for both our young people and our culture. I want to do something about it.

Parent-Child Dedication

Mother's Day, Sunday, May 11

Words from Carla

As the weather is warming, the birds are flying, tweeting, and enjoying the arrival of the season. They are looking for a place to nest and feeders with continual birdseed. If you do not have a bird feeder, get one or make one. Birds will come where seed is put out on a regular basis. This week let the children fill bird feeders with birdseed and watch, especially in the mornings as the birds come to eat. Count with them how many birds are coming to the feeder. Point out the different kinds of birds. It is so amazing to see the birds interact with each other! Watch daily to see many of the same returning.

Although God always takes care of their needs, it is a great feeling to provide a little nourishment for them too. Speaking of taking care of needs, God promises to take care of our needs too. As a Christian, He calls us to encourage one another and hold each other accountable. As a parent you are given a special task... to not only nurture your child's basic needs, but to look after their spiritual needs as well. Introduce them to the Bible, to Jesus, and as they ride on your faith coattail for a while, they will reach an appropriate time where they begin their own spiritual journey with Christ as their leader.

It is a great assurance knowing we are a child of the one true King!
