Following Jesus...

Dr. Jeff Roberts, Senior Pastor
jroberts@tbcraleigh.com • Twitter: @Jeff__Roberts

This coming weekend is Memorial Day Weekend, which of course signifies the beginning of summer, and for many that means travel and vacations. Although we have several weeks until traditional school is ended for the year, with the summer upon us I am always reminded of the need for us to become aware of being accountable to one another over the next three months. The summer at Trinity is filled with mission trips, summer camps and special times of worship and fellowship. It is a time when many people make new friends and build strong relationships as the weekly routine changes and we find ourselves with other members of Trinity that we might not be able to meet during the routine of activities. I think that summer presents itself every year as a time for growth and fellowship building. The summer is also the time when new families move to town and when families might choose to worship at Trinity. Whenever there is a change in routine there is always an opportunity to reset priorities. I witness this happening each and every summer.

As this change in routine occurs, let me encourage you about our accountability to one another.

- When you are in town be at worship and Sunday School. In a time of travel it is important to make worship a priority when you are in town, so that you can stay connected to your church.
- When you are away find a place of worship. Going to worship as a family when on vacation is a wonderful experience and also is a reminder that our faith is not dependent on location. It is the Lord's Day no matter where we might be.
- Consider making the summer a time to get connected to something new at church. Summer is a great time to join the Choir or First Light and help lead in worship. It is a great time to volunteer at the ROC where regulars might need substitutes. It is a great time to come on Wednesday nights and be a part of one of our book studies. Many of you are committed to teaching and leading during the year on Wednesdays, but the summer can provide a time for you to grow and to make new relationships on Wednesday nights.
- If you are away several weeks from church, take the time to connect with those in your Sunday School class. Make a phone call, answer an email, send a text and let others know you care and stay connected.

- Contact those you miss. If each of us would send an email or make a call to a few people each week that we miss when we are at church, it would go a long way in encouraging one another and helping us stay connected.
- Try something creative. Invite a few people from your class over for a cook out or better yet, think of some other members who live near you and have a neighborhood meal together. Most of us can think of 4 or 5 families that are of various ages who live near by. Take the initiative and build community.
- Pray for your church. Our prayers should never stop for our congregation's work.
- Continue to give faithfully. You might want to speak with our Financial Administrator about setting up a draft for your tithes, which will allow you to give faithfully whether you are in town or not.
- Take advantage of all special activities this summer. We have many special times of worship and fellowship planned this summer. Make a point to stay connected by being involved.
- Take some time for a vacation. The time you spend with your family is important. So, I hope that you all will have some "down time" this summer and be able to make some memories with family.

N.C. Transportation Museum, Spencer Mills Home for Children, Thomasville

Tuesday, June 10 • 8:00 am - 7:00 pm

Cost: $15 for admission, train ride and gas, plus meals: fast food breakfast, lunch at Hendrix BBQ, dinner at K&W

Limited to 30 Seats

We'll travel to Spencer for a guided tour of the 57-acre site, with a 25-minute train ride pulled by an antique diesel engine. This was once Southern Railroad's largest steam locomotive repair facility on the east coast. The 37-stall Bob Julian Roundhouse, one of the largest ever built, was constructed in 1924. It is one of the few preserved roundhouses remaining in the country and houses about 40 restored locomotives and rail cars. Though known for its trains, the museum also holds one of the last remaining 1910 Buick automobiles in the country and the Melville Dairy Wagon, part of the fleet of six wagons used in Burlington during World War II to conserve gasoline to aid in wartime efforts. The Bumper to Bumper exhibit is an impressive collection of antique automobiles ranging from a 1901 White Steam Stanhope to a 1978 Plymouth N.C. Highway Patrol car. Finally, there is a full size replica Wright Flyer on loan from the Wright Brothers National Memorial.

On the way back to Raleigh, we'll stop in Thomasville for a brief tour of the Mills Home, the original Baptist Children's Home.

Join us for this exciting day. It does include a good bit of walking, but wheel chairs are available when reserved in advance. Sign-up and put your check for $15 made out to TBC in the lock box in the Senior Corner at the end of the B-Hallway or mail it to the church office. Put "Spencer" in the memo line. If you have questions, call Kathy Driver at 919-621-0236.

Belize Team Serving People They Have Known

As the Belize Medical / Dental / Optometric Mission Team holds its week-long clinics on Caye Caulker, an island off the coast of Belize City, they will recognize many faces. Our teams have been spending the last night of a mission week on Caye Caulker for years to have a fun day and relaxing evening in a place where the community slogan is "Go Slow". This week will be so different! Instead of serving us, we are serving them, and representing Christ in all that we do. Not only will we be alleviating pain, treating illness, suturing wounds, clarifying vision, educating about nutrition, and dispensing free medications for many of the above, we will for the first time LIVE among those we are serving. We will not only be the hands and feet and voice of Christ meeting needs, but we will be living examples of what it means to be a follower of Christ...looking and listening for opportunities to share our faith in Jesus.

You might say it will be more like ordinary life back home...where we gather very visibly to worship, learn, fellowship, and do ministry together as Trinity Baptist Church and then disperse to live among those who need to hear of and see the Gospel of Christ lived out before their eyes...at home, at work, at school, at the grocery store, at the ball game (oops, sorry). Sometimes I think that we forget that our mission field #1 is our own back yard among the people who know us best. That also can make our Christian witness a difficult task – particularly if we are not consistent from Sunday through Saturday modeling the same enthusiasm, the same joy, the same hospitality toward strangers, the same Christ-like attitudes that we tend to share at church.

So please continue to lift up this Mission Team in prayer, that Christ will permeate everything we ARE for and amongst the people of Caye Caulker this week. Pray that in the wake of our work this week, that the Holy Spirit will find a crack through which to begin massaging hearts and causing a hunger and thirst for Christ that will result in revival on this island.

Music Ministry

Rev. Steve Byers, slbyers@tbcraleigh.com

Music Notes

Our worship this past Sunday was very diverse with New Covenant, Living Praise, and the Instrumental Ensemble. Special thanks to all of our musicians and directors for the time and work put into making this a great day in worship at Trinity. Also, I thank the children and their directors for a wonderful night of music presented in concert this past Sunday. Our Preschool, Music Makers, and Young Musicians Choirs celebrated the end of their choir year with a concert of music that showed their developing skills as church musicians. Thank you, parents, for keeping the choir ministry an active part of your child's faith development at Trinity.

Parents of Children's Choirs, we have one more week of choir left. This is always a fun night of music, games, and fellowship. It is also Cooper's BBQ Night, so plan on getting your tickets to come eat with your church family and friends.

Leadership Volunteers Needed

We need some leadership positions filled for the 2014-2015 church year in children's choirs. If you are interested in being involved in our music ministry, please come be a part of our children's choir ministry on Wednesday nights.

Don't forget that summer rehearsals for FirstLight are at 8:00am on Sunday mornings. This would be a great time to come and join us for rehearsal and worship leadership, as we do need to build our numbers in this early service choir. We will rehearse the anthem of the day with additional pieces to be prepared for a few weeks ahead.

Words from Andy

In a recent blog post by Brad Griffin on Youth Fuller Institute, Griffin talked about the age old question, "What should I do when my kid says, 'I'm not going to church?'" I like the approach Griffin suggests that changes the framework of the conversation. He affirms the approach Eugene Peterson took in his book Like Dew Your Youth: Growing Up With Your Teenager.

Rather than trying to bargain with teenagers or playing "Let's Make a Deal," Peterson suggests a conversation that goes something like this:

"I remember having those feelings myself; in fact, I still have them from time to time. The only trouble, though, with staying away from church at a time like this is that there is no way to continue the conversation with others involved on the other side of some ideas and practices that obviously matter a great deal. For the first time in your life you're beginning to think and feel as an adult. Many of the things that you're finding distasteful are what you experienced as a child in the church. Wouldn't it be more reasonable to take your thinking and feeling into the sanctuary each Sunday for the next few years and test it out there? If you stay home you don't have anybody to argue with or test yourself against—except your childhood memories. You are changing and learning very rapidly now; the church needs your new vision and experience... Nobody would want you to swallow uncritically everything that is going on in the church, but if you walk out of the room the possibilities for adult, responsible debate are eliminated... Part of my responsibility as a parent is to try to keep you in the flow of experience as long as possible so that you feel as much and face as much as is there and so be equipped to make good, adult decisions. You may feel that the church doesn't appreciate your perspectives or your ideas; and in all honesty I must tell you that it might not. But I do and I would like to keep on hearing about them."

This kind of conversation will probably not result in your child darting out the door toward the car to come to church. However, it will open windows for faith conversations that will help develop a faith that will last beyond youth group. If you would like to read the entire blog post, go to <http://fulleryouthinstitute.org/blog/im-not-going-to-church>.

Words from Carla

Summer is coming and schedules are beginning to fill up with activities, especially as school lets out. There are so many options of things to do and not enough hours in the day to do everything. What to do and what not to do can get frustrating. I encourage you to stop and take a deep breath! ENJOY the moment, even the trying ones. You don't have to do everything.

Stay committed to the principles outlined in God's word, not the principles outlined in this world. You may have to stand alone every once in a while, but make a commitment to raise a family that honors the Lord. Make time for God as a family and take time to enjoy the family God has blessed you with.

A solid foundation for one's life comes in the confidence of God's word. Our faith and our life should be a reflection of this. If our hearts and our minds are not filled with God's truth, something else will take His place.

Music & Mission

Thanks for a job well done this church year.

The emphasis on Music and missions for children is understated sometimes. However, when we look at the programs offered for children and others at Trinity, Bible Study in Sunday School is pivotal for Bible growth and worship is necessary for fellowship with our Father. Music or choirs aid in the experience of worship and encourage that faith development. Mission classes like RA, GA or Mission Friends encourage us to live out our faith and share with others.

Children are constantly learning and experiencing life. They are growing in Faith. We are grateful to all our leaders that commit to teach and lead our boys and girls to discover faith in song and share their faith in missions. Job well done –thou good and faithful servants.
