Joining Hands with God

Dr. Jeff Roberts, Senior Pastor

jr Roberts@tbcraleigh.com • Twitter: @Jeff__Roberts

As we enter November and December, we have so much to look forward to at Trinity. Our services will be filled with Bible Presentations, Baby Dedications, Thanksgiving and Advent celebrations. In recent years, October has become a month where people do a lot of traveling and have many obligations. The result is our attendance in October now is lower than any month but July. It may sound odd, but it is not only our experience. Many churches not only in Raleigh, but other places as well. Why attendance is important is because it keeps us connected as a congregation and worshipping community. So as we begin November, I want to encourage you to be present, but also to encourage each other. Think of someone you may have missed during the past few weeks and drop them an email or give them a call and let them know they are missed. It is important that we all encourage each other to join together for worship and service. It was the writer of Hebrews who encouraged the early church with these same words. He wrote "And let us not neglect our meeting together, as some people do, but encourage one another, especially now that the day of his return is drawing near." (Hebrews 10:25) I am looking forward to our time of worship this coming Sunday. Don't forget to set your clocks back an hour, enjoy your extra hour of sleep and join us for worship.

I am pleased to inform you that our budget vote passed by a 99% affirmation. I am grateful to all who were a part of the process and now let us be faithful in our giving of our tithes and offerings as we continue to minister together.

Finally, don't forget Fall Fest this coming Friday night. This is an important night of fellowship and outreach. We will have many people from our community join us for this special fall event. We need you to be present to not only enjoy the fellowship and fun, but to welcome others as well. We can always use more "trunks" for the treats. If you would like to come and be one of the "trunks", then call the church office and let us know you want to participate. We will provide the treats. If you can decorate your vehicle all the better, but if not that is okay as well. Just come and join the fun!

Music Ministry

Rev. Steve Byers, slbyers@tbcraleigh.com

Music Notes

The combination of Living Praise and our Trinity Orchestra added so much to our worship services yesterday. Special thanks to Joy Blashaw for her leadership of Living Praise, and to Baron Hignite for his solo with the ensemble as well. God has been faithful to bring many people here with hearts for worship and musical gifts to offer. What a blessing!

The song played by the orchestra, "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need," is a beautiful hymn that has found its way into the hearts of many over the years. Isaac Watts, the "Father of English Hymnody," wrote the words to this hymn, and William B. Bradbury composed the beautiful tune to it. The words are a paraphrase of the 23rd Psalm and the musical style is that of an American folk tune. It was published in Southern Harmony in 1835. Since it is not in our current hymnal, I wanted to share with you the words to this beautiful hymn in the hope that it will bring you comfort in a time of need...

My Shepherd will supply my need:

Jehovah is His Name;

In pastures fresh He makes me feed,

Beside the living stream.

He brings my wandering spirit back

When I forsake His ways,

And leads me, for His mercy's sake,

In paths of truth and grace.

When I walk through the shades of death

Thy presence is my stay;

One word of Thy supporting breath

Drives all my fears away.

Thy hand, in sight of all my foes,

Doth still my table spread;

My cup with blessings overflows,

Thine oil anoints my head.

The sure provisions of my God

Attend me all my days;

O may Thy house be my abode,

And all my work be praise.

There would I find a settled rest,

While others go and come;

No more a stranger, nor a guest,

But like a child at home.

Leaving Your Child at Church

Separation anxiety may begin with a look of uncertainty as a child's eyes dart around the room, absorbing each detail of this strange place. Then the arms desperately clutch at Mommy or Daddy and the head presses firmly against the familiar shoulder. Finally, tears mix with loud wail that seem to ask, "How could you leave me in this place?"

Vigorous protests are common when young children sense they will be separated from Mommy or Daddy. Anxiety at being left with strangers usually begins at around 6-8 months of age. But such an upset is actually a healthy sign that the child has built a strong attachment to parents. However, learning to accept and trust other adults is a necessary step in every child's growth.

When your child begins objecting to leaving you, consider these suggestions:

- On the way to church, talk about enjoyable activities or people he or she will encounter at church. Even if your child does not understand your words, your loving, focused attention will strengthen feelings of security.
- When leaving your child, move at a relaxed pace, but don't linger. It may help to establish a "good-bye ritual" of a hug, a kiss and a wave good-bye. Do this every time you separate. Then make a quick exit, even if your child cries. Tears are normal—and prolonged departures often make matters worse. Loving care gives know where to find you.
- Return to check on your child only if you intend to stay for the rest of the session. One tearful goodbye is all a little one should be expected to endure in a morning.
- If your child cried when you left, seeing other parents come for their children may stimulate more tears. So return quickly to the area after church services have concluded.
- Be as regular as possible in attending church. Even one absence may make your child feel like a stranger again.
- Serve in Extended Care. Let your child see you serve.
